

BREAKFAST SEMINAR

Working with youth in transdisciplinary projects for sustainability

The young are a necessary partner in all work on sustainability. With long-term perspectives on the future, their voices need to be heard in any debate on climate, environment, social, economic, and political changes. With this breakfast seminar, SustainLab aims to bring out experiences from planned and ongoing projects linking youth with sustainability. The focus of the discussions will be on transdisciplinary set ups and methods.
